

San Diego Leads the Nation in Solar Energy Installations

What are YOU waiting for?

Semper Solaris is honored to be part of the movement making San Diego 100% renewable by 2035. The city's commitment to clean energy is setting a worldwide example. San Diego has been blessed with a perfect climate for solar – mild temperatures, clear skies, and sunshine every day. There's no better place to go solar than San Diego.

Our city has twice been named the solar capital of the United States, with the highest number of PV systems in 2009 and 2012. According to the Solar Energy Industries Association, San Diego is the second biggest solar market in the world. Over 47,000 San Diegan families are now connected to solar power.

Semper Solaris is leading the way in San Diego solar installations by making solar hassle free and easy to understand. Over the past three years, Semper Solaris has grown to be the best solar company in the state. Their dedication to the highest quality customer service and solar installations was recently honored by SunPower.

Semper Solaris was awarded the SunPower Residential National Dealer of the Year award for their outstanding achievements in the solar industry. The award speaks volumes about the kind of business co-owners Kelly and John are running. Kelly and John have made their solar company run on the expertise, excellence, and efficiency of the military. Each employee is dedicated to arriving at every install on time with all the right materials.

Semper Solaris gets the job done right the first time, no exceptions. This highly trained team is ready to help your family make your home energy efficient. Semper Solaris only uses world record efficiency SunPower panels which produce 70% more energy over time, saving you more money. They deliver the highest quality products and the most affordable pricing on solar. Call today to start saving your very first month. Go Solar American Style!
